Hi Pradeepika,

Good to hear from you, and especially that you have a new job too! Will you be finishing your PhD soon as well – a lot of work to do.

I am certainly keen to collaborate with you further – the Chambal River data is very interesting and I think that we can do some new work with this. I would like to visit India sometime – I am not sure when this will be possible as I have a lot of travelling planned until at least July this year, but maybe we can arrange something later. When is the best season to visit this region?

If you would like me to comment on anything that you are writing, please let me know and I will do my best to help.

Best wishes,

Trevor

DEPUTATION OF INDIAN SCIENTISTS ABROAD UNDER BILATERAL EXCHANGE PROGRAMME 2017

Applications are invited from outstanding scientists/ researchers holding Ph.D. degree and having regular positions in recognized S&T institutions/universities and actively engaged in research in frontline areas for deputation abroad during the Calendar year 2017 in all fields of Science including Engineering, Medicine & Agriculture for short term visits (2-4 weeks for senior scientists) and long term visits (3 months for junior/younger scientists) under the Scientific Bilateral Exchange Programme with overseas Academies/Organizations.

Preamble

The Indian National Science Academy (INSA) is a premier scientific learned body (established in 1935) representing all branches of science –Physical and Biological Sciences including Engineering, Medicine and Agricultural Sciences. The Academy has been promoting scientific cooperation with Academies/Organisations of several countries the world over. The Academy has links with the Academies and Organisations in Asia, Europe and South America. These programmes provide opportunities to scientists working in various scientific institutions and organizations in the country for exchange of ideas, knowledge, establish new links, strengthen old links and undertake joint projects with their research partners in leading laboratories and institutions abroad. The Academy and the particular institution/University share equally the expenditure on travel of their scientists selected by INSA visiting abroad under the Exchange Programme.

The Academy has an International Exchange Programme with Academies/Organizations in the countries: China, Czech Republic, France, Germany, Hungary, Iran, Israel, Kenya, Mauritius, Nepal, Philippines, Poland, Scotland, Slovak Republic, Republic of Slovenia, Sudan, Taiwan and Turkey.

Application Procedure/Eligibility

Applications are invited from Indian Nationals for consideration by the Academy for the next calendar year. The applicant should be a scientist holding a regular position in a recognized S & T Institution/University and actively engaged in research work in frontline areas. He/She should not have been abroad during the last 3 years under any INSA Programme. The scientist should have been accepted to work in an Institute/Laboratory in the country to be visited and this should be supported by a letter of invitation from the host abroad. Those who wish to visit abroad for three months should submit a detailed programme of their collaborative research work to be conducted. All applications should be forwarded through proper channel by the employer/head of the Institute indicating their commitment on travel.

Scope of Finance

Scientists selected for deputation abroad would be provided 50% travel support (by excursion class air fare, wherever applicable) by INSA. The receiving Academy/Organization would provide local hospitality including internal travel abroad. Preference would be given to those scientists whose parent institute agrees to provide 100% travel support.

Criteria for Selection

The Criteria for selection would mainly be the scientific contribution of the nominee and the purpose of the visit, which would be acceptable to the host scientist.

Short-term visits are mainly for 2 to 4 weeks for holding scientific discussions, delivering a series of lectures and seminars, projecting Indian science abroad. It is expected that short-term visitors are well established Indian Scientists who can be effective Ambassadors of Indian Science. Under long-term category, the scientists are expected to work primarily in one institute with a short visit to other allied institutes.

If a scientist desires to attend a conference/scientific meeting during his visit abroad under the Exchange Programme, the period of the conference should normally be not more than one fourth of his/her total stay in the country. Scientists who propose to visit abroad only to attend the Symposium/Conference, need not apply under this programme.

Under the exchange programme with the Academy in France only Fellows of the Academy would be considered for nomination.

The visit should be availed of in the same calendar year. Failure to do so may render them to forfeit the nomination.

Support to INSA Young Scientist Awardees

INSA Young Scientist Awardees as a part of their career development are provided opportunity to visit abroad under the Bilateral Exchange Programme with full travel support once within the five years of having received the award. After expiry of five years, they would be considered along with other applicants.

Dear Sir: Greetings!

Recently, I had a chance to visit Defense lab in DC and also to demonstrate/perform my work. Here, they still need my research expertise till May 2018.

I have my contract in Banasthali till May 18, 2017, so if I will be allowed to stay here till May 10, 2018, then, later I can join Banasthali (if extension is possible).

The learning of cutting edge wearable on-body sensor is amazing and I wish to continue here as I am learning new stuff in one of the pioneer lab in wearable biosensors.

Therefore, I request you to please extend my leaves in Banasthali as no work no pay (extraordinary leave) till May 10, 2018.

Your support is always very important and played very important role to pursue my research here.

I hope you understand my situation, I-am not even allowed to visit my family in India due to the commitments in Defense project!!

Please let me know the possibilities and your feedback!

With best regards and many Thanks,

I would like to notify you that I am unable to join Banasthali Vidyapith on May 8, 2018 (as my leave and contract ends on May 8, 2018) due to my projects commitments here at University of California San Diego, USA.

I am determined to associated with Banasthali Vidyapith and want to thank for your immense support.

I enjoyed working with Bio-sciences and Biotechnology Department and published 10 research articles (including edited book chapters, review articles and research papers) during my contract period in high international reputed journals and two articles are in submission stage!

I have always participated and furnished departmental needs and provided necessary informations and input at times.

My current training at University of California will be useful for benefit of society as well as for Banasthali University and certainly help me to bring innovative research project grants in near future. Please let me know your views.

Dear Professor Sharma,

Thank you for your update. I assume you will apply for the visa at the Dutch embassy in Delhi? Officially it can take up to 3 weeks to proceed your request before you can come and pick it up at the embassy. So just make sure you apply in time and if you mention your adjusted dates that should be fine.

It does not matter whether you arrive in the weekend or on weekdays for your scholarship (you just have to make sure you spend nearly the full month in the Netherlands). Your scholarship will be transferred by Aarhus, but if necessary we can pay your (first month's allowance) in cash on one of the first days. Please let us know in advance if you prefer this, so we can notify our colleagues.

The ticket (and insurance) will be booked by Aarhus, so you have to contact Lise Hansen for this.

I recommend you to contact the Housing office to check whether they have news regarding your accommodation.

Looking forward to meeting you.

Best wishes,

Esther Zwinkels
